Blessed with a sense of resilience and strength from his career as an NCAA athlete at Furman University, B1G Juice continues to put an unknown city on his back. Telling tales of heartbreak, injury, and finding a path out of self-pity and doubt, B1G Juice commands an audience with his sinister voice and a cadence fluid enough to lay vocals over any beat thrown at him. He explores the failures of his past life, his struggles as an artist, and life as a new father, while weaving through steady drums and rumbling bass lines. Drowned in solitude, he continues to pour out his pain for the world to hear. While Brampton is known to be championed by the likes of Tory Lanez and Roy Woods, B1G Juice's plan is to set a new standard with him at the forefront.
